

My parents are both elderly and disabled, and have difficulty walking. My mother picks up every telephone call in case of an emergency. She should not have her health jeopardized, or her privacy disturbed by telemarketers whose phone calls are unsolicited.